

Grandview Medical Center

In 2013, Ready Mix USA was selected to continue providing concrete for the Grandview Medical Center. Originally, the project began in 2002 with Ready Mix USA providing concrete, but by 2003 the jobsite was abandoned before the project could be finished. It took until 2013 for work progress to return to the site.

Ready Mix USA was able to deliver over 68,000 cubic yards of concrete to the jobsite. Of that concrete more than 30,000 yards was a high early mix, which allows the concrete to gain its strength at an earlier age than a typical mix. Using this mix allows the contractor to increase turnaround time and reuse formwork more often, which reduces labor cost.

Ready Mix USA changed our pour time schedule to allow pours to begin around 1:30 AM, so that as much traffic as possible could be avoided. Providing this service to the contractor saved them both time, that would have been lost with any kind of production flaws, as well as money that would have been tied up in labor and scheduling in other parts of the project.
